

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Hondo Public Schools will open for regular classroom work on Wednesday morning, September 3. Teachers' Institute will be held in Hondo as usual, on Monday and Tuesday, September 1 and 2.

Students who expect to graduate next May will be expected to register for classes Friday morning, August 29, at nine o'clock. Juniors will register Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock; Sophomores, Saturday morning at nine and Freshmen, Saturday afternoon at two. For purposes of classification, it takes three credits to be a Sophomore, seven to be a junior and eleven to be a Senior. Students who are entering the Hondo schools for the first time should bring their last year's report card or a certified list of units.

The following teachers will compose the faculty, J. G. Barry, A. B., superintendent; M. I. Broxton, B. S., H. S. principal, science and physical education for boys; Miss Bess Brucks, A. B., social science; Mr. Glenn Flucker, A. B., Spanish; Miss Ellen Tweedy, B. B. A., commercial work and physical education for girls; Mr. M. L. McDowell, A. B., mathematics; Miss Sue Heatly, sixth grade; Miss Margaret Howard, A. B., fifth grade; Miss Emma Hodges, fourth grade; Miss Willie Fly, third grade; Miss Della Adamcik, second grade; Miss Marguerite McClellan, first grade; Miss Kate Henderson and Miss Katherine Clements, Mexican school. Mr. Ed. Armstrong will have charge of high school glee club and orchestra.

A great year is in prospect for the schools, not only from the standpoint of faculty and student personnel, but also from extra-curricula activities. We hope to have the best athletic teams in the history of the school and one of the best trained glee clubs and orchestras in the state. A recent bill passed by the Legislature requires the home district to pay the tuition of students transferring for high school purposes, and it is hoped that a great many will yet transfer to our high school from other districts in the county. It was announced some time ago in this paper that the tuition prices had been raised, and that if the home district did not have the money, the parents of the home district would have to pay. THE LAW HAS RECENTLY CHANGED, and if the home district does not have the money, the State will pay the tuition. We had 41 transferred students in our high school last year, and we hope to have at least fifty this year.

J. G. BARRY,
Superintendent.

Mr. John Henry Meyer and Mr. Walter Meyer accompanied by Miss Anne Leah Brucks left for Fredericksburg to attend the fair. Miss Brucks will be the guest of Miss Viola Klett, her room-mate at O. L. L. College last winter.

JUST BEFORE WE VOTE.

The campaign between myself and Mr. Sterling is now coming to the close.

He and his supporters have spoken of me in terms not complimentary—yes in most cases disrespectful. I have not replied in kind and let them have their way. God has given me courage and strength to stand any ordeal for the good of our state.

The avicious hand of corporate wealth is so bent on ruling Texas, that respect for man or woman has been thrown to the winds and any other candidate would have received the same unfair and inhuman attack which I have received.

But, as a Christian, I must turn the other cheek and forgive those who smite me.

Right is might and will prevail. I urge the people to turn out and vote their sentiments.

We are making a fight for our country's good and the liberty and happiness of our posterity. We must not falter.

I am deeply grateful for the loyalty and devotion of our friends to our

MOODYISM VS. FERGUSONISM (Continued—Second Letter).

(Written for publication before the first primary but published now because still timely.—Ed.)

On the day Jim Ferguson got the anti-prohibition committee's endorsement at Dallas in 1914 he was marked for slaughter. In less than thirty days a crusade was organized against him by people who reasoned that the end justifies the means, and that has been maliciously and sleeplessly pursued during all the years of this unequal struggle. Politicians who ought to have stood by his side and fought for him, traitorously deserted him and fought against him. Among the politicians he was persona non grata, because he was regarded as an interloper in their field, with independent policies of his own, and he refused to take orders from them or to join in and be bound by their plans and intrigues. After his second election in 1917, a small coterie of men met in Dallas and perfected a cunning and unscrupulous plan to undo him. The success of the plan involved base treachery, ingratitude and infamous false charges, as well as the barter of principle for political promotion. The trades were promptly made, the legislature program prepared in advance, the stage was set by seven false felony indictments in District Court at Austin, and in due and brief order he was ousted out of office on charges that were actually subject to general demurrer, as any competent, fair-minded lawyer will tell you.

During those eventful days the legislature halls, the corridors of the Capitol and the lobbies of the hotels were rallying places for crowds of baseless slander-mongers who invented and set afloat new calumnies every day; and in the years that have elapsed since then, as occasions presented,—for example in 1925 and 1926—this mendacious practice has been diligently resorted to, and thousands of credulous people heard these stories and repeated them to their friends and neighbors, and they believed, and still believe them, because it was utterly impossible for Jim Ferguson single-handed to be everywhere to meet and refute these charges, the half of which he probably never heard of. It was several times given out that he would be arrested and jailed in a few days on newly discovered felony charges, on which they would send him to the penitentiary. In all the history of impeachment cases in this country no such unscrupulous falsehood, cunning, treachery, malice and barter of principle were employed; and no such a brutal outrage was ever perpetrated. The proof is now at hand, as I will presently show, to expose the infamy of that impeachment, and to vindicate the character and life of Jim Ferguson, one of the most competent, courageous, patriotic Governors the State ever had.

Any man of common sense, in the light of subsequent events, now knows that if a single one of the numerous charges, maliciously broadcasted to destroy his character, had been true, those political highbinders, with the help always of a willing Attorney General, and who were constantly reaching for his scalp, could have procured proof sufficient to support an indictment, and would have had him in jail before the sun went down. They could not have slept until the purpose nearest to their hearts had been accomplished. They had innumerable minions and sleuths at their bidding to hunt the evidence, and would willingly have paid any price for it. No evidence to support any of the charges that could be offered in a Court trial, or considered by an unbiased, honest juror, was ever found from that day to this, and never will be found, for the simple reason that the charges were all wantonly false,

Let us go to the polls and record our vote for the good of our children who shall come after us.

We can forgive our enemies but we must not forget to vote.

MIRIAM A. FERGUSON.

and no facts to sustain them ever existed. This is a self-evident conclusion.

It is a significant fact that during all the malignant warfare against Jim Ferguson a loyal army of 200,000 real Democrats, and men who know him best, have unflinchingly stood by his side. No man in public life in Texas, or any other State, has ever had such a personal following: such a repeated manifestation of confidence by the honest, intelligent, unselfish, citizenship of his State. No unworthy man could have won and held so long the unflinching faith and support of such a host, which is constantly increasing in strength and loyalty.

It is the history of American politics that our most independent, courageous and patriotic public servants have been the victims of the unscrupulous political slanderer. At least four of our Presidents—Jefferson, Jackson, Andrew Jackson and Cleveland, and at least three Texas Governors, Houston, Hogg and Ferguson—were victims of the practice.

Every instinct of an honorable man cries out against this outrageous practice that ought to find no place in American politics. What is Moodyism? It is like its progenitor, a recently hatched gosling, about which the reading public is fully informed. It is a five shot million dollar legislative target practice instituted by our young Governor, where all the shots missed the whole target and back wall; the legislature and the people called the bluff, and refused to be dictated to. It collects and spends at least $40,000,000.00 annually on public roads, an ample fund to support a pay-as-you-go road policy, as fast as we ought to go, and yet Moodyism insists on issuing three hundred and fifty millions of dollars in long-time bonds, money to be issued at once, in a system of general road-building. This means an annual interest charge of $17,500,000.00 at 5 per cent, which at the end of twenty years straight interest would equal the original principal; all of which would be "dead horse feed."

But that is not all. Moodyism has annexed the idea that a penitentiary ought to be conducted under the plan adopted by a Yankee prison reform organization of New York, and proposes to sell all our penitentiary farms and property, and buy land near Austin, to re-establish the convicts in manufacturing business, a plan in which we will undoubtedly lose $20,000,000.00 if carried out. Moodyism sponsored the law of 1927 which completely destroyed the Democratic party in Texas, by compelling primary election officers to accept the votes of any and all qualified voters of any and all political shades, which completely took away from the organization all power to control over the eligibility of its members and candidates, a tyrannical order, the like of which no State in this Union has ever experienced, and no real Democrat will submit to. In 1929 Senator Wirtz and Democrats in the House, after a hard contest, passed a law repealing the Moody law of 1927, but Dan Moody promptly vetoed the bill.

The rank infirmities above set out are not half the folly of Moodyism, but that ought to be a plenty to condemn it.

I will vote for Mrs. Ferguson as the proper person to administer Fergusonism. Love and Sterling are impossible, and the other candidates are running on thread-bare platitudes, except that now and then one has a purloined Ferguson plank under his arm.

Respectfully submitted,

W. B. TEAGARDEN.

San Antonio, Texas. Don't forget that the race has narrowed down to Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling, and that Sterling is the protégé of Moody and stands for all the Moody follies which the people and the legislature have refused to endorse. To vote for Sterling tomorrow is to give endorsement to what you have heretofore condemned in Moody.—Editor.

DISTRICT COURT.

In the district court last week, the case of State vs. Homer Edwards, on trial for the murder of John W. Bradshaw, which was being argued by attorneys when this paper went to press, the jury returned a verdict of guilty and assessed his punishment at imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. The defendant was sentenced Tuesday, and accepted the same without appeal.

On Monday, August 18, two special venuries, one of 50 men and the other of 45, besides the regular veniremen for the week reported.

The case of State vs. Roman Hernandez, charged with murder, was called for trial. The following jury was sworn in: H. S. Bulgerin, Andrew W. Martin, H. H. Saathoff, Hy. Fiericks, Robert Groff, Sam Neuman, Albert H. Saathoff, A. J. Hardt, G. C. McAnelly, V. P. King, Julius Wurzbach and Robt. P. Haby. After hearing the evidence the jury returned verdict of not guilty. This case grew out of the killing of another Mexican at Devine by Hernandez under circumstances which the jurors regarded as self-defense.

State vs. Evarista Garza, charged with rape, was continued by agreement. This was the case for which the special venire of 50 men had been summoned.

The court is still technically in session and more orders will doubtless be made before adjournment, but the important matters have all been disposed of for the term.

LIONS AND LAWYERS.

Ever since the organization of the Hondo Lions Club, Lions and lawyers have associated during court sessions, and both have benefited thereby. The lawyers knew where to get a good meal, and the Lions knew where to get good luncheon speakers.

Last Tuesday it was District Attorney Woodley and County Attorney Brown who had the pleasure (at least they said it was a pleasure, and we believe them) of dining with the Lions, and who reciprocated by entertaining the Lions with their talks, wise and otherwise.

Mr. Brown urged the Lions to carry on and make Medina County the greatest county in the State. He called attention to road improvements between Hondo and Biry and Devine, making it easier for those living along and beyond those roads to attend the County Fair, and to market their corn in Hondo, "King of the Korn Country." The Lions Club thereupon resolved to express their sincere appreciation to the County Commissioners for their quick response to the wish of the Lions Club in regard to those roads. May the good work be continued along other roads.

Attention is now being centered on the Tarpley road. Steps are being taken to carry out the plans for the proposed scenic loop from San Antonio to Bandera and Tarpley, back to San Antonio by way of Hondo.

CAPTAIN DON WINDROW HURT IN FOOTBALL PRACTICE.

Twenty-One Candidates Answer Call; Several Others to Report Next Week.

Gloom fell in the Owl football camp Wednesday evening when Don Windrow was hurt. "Bud" injured his shoulder while making a low-rolling block, and it has not been determined whether the injury is a break or a bad sprain. The injury is of such extent though that Windrow will be forced to stay on the bench for at least two weeks, with chances of him having to remain idle even longer.

Call for pre-school football practice was answered by twenty-one candidates with still others to report with the opening of school. Those who have received uniforms are:

Don Windrow, August Finger, Edward Taylor, Albert Haegelin, Fritz Leinweber and Glenn Jones, backfield men; B. C. Rucker, Frank Rucker, Durward Stanley, Charles Langfeld, Ralph Noonan and Roy Schweers, ends; Clifford Steigler, Thomas Gattieser, Edgar Mechler and Jimmie Smith, tackles; Jack Mask, Laurence Kotne and W. J. Ney, guards; Jack Droitecourt, center.

Other to report are: George Isaac Wilson and Jack Muennink, backs; Joe Haegelin, end; Herbert Hyatt and Bradley Bailey, tackles; Gene Ulrich, guards.

All eight backfield candidates are players who were with the team last year. Although the committee has not given a decision on the eligibility of Glenn Jones, he is practicing with the team every day to be in shape if ruled eligible.

Ineligibles have wrecked the line, Russel Speece, Harold Steigler, Tony Taylor and Bru Miller all being unable to play this year. Two transfer students give promise of relieving the situation to some extent. Herbert Hyatt comes to the Owls from San Marcos Academy with a good deal of experience and a fighting spirit to his credit, while Charles Langfield, of D'Hanis, although having no football experience gives promise to develop into a scrappy end.

The few new players players reporting to the team are all lively, happy, scrappy and full of life and their is a chance of their instilling a spirit of aggressiveness, a thing the Owls lacked last year, in the boys this year.

ARCOS TRANSFERRED TO PEN.

Following the passing by the district court of the death sentence on Laz Arcos for the murder of Joe Barrientes on the night of December 26, 1928, Sheriff Charles J. Scheuhle and J. J. Droitecourt transferred him from the Bexar County jail to the penitentiary at Huntsville Friday of last week.

The condemned man is now confined in death row and, unless there is some intervention to stop it, will be executed on Friday, September 12, in expiration of his crime.

Since no case was affirmed by the court of appeals, petitions to Governor Moody for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment has been circulated among his friends and it is said two thousand or more have signed it. It is likewise currently reported that Governor Moody has refused to grant the petition, but this paper has no confirmation of either report.

Two companion cases, one for killing L. Barrientes, father of the two boys, and Candelario Barrientes, at the same time Joe Barrientes was killed, are still pending against the condemned man on the district court docket here.

TRADES DAY COMING.

Hondo's first Trades Day is near at hand and tickets are being handed out fast by the merchants who are using them. There will be a large number of them distributed by the time September 19 rolls around.

County Agent C. M. Merritt has been entrusted with the buying of the prizes and is now looking out for suitable ones. The first will be a dairy cow, the second a sow and the third a pen of chickens. Either premium will be something to be proud of.

Note elsewhere announcement of the first event, observe those who are promoting it, and who are offering you tickets. Call for tickets when trading with them and then be here on September 19 for the big Trades Day gathering.

BOY SCOUT CAMP CLOSES.

Scout Camp has just closed with 114 Scouts and 38 Leaders having been registered. All of these Scouts and Leaders have returned safely to their respective homes, and we are very glad to report that there was no sickness in camp during this ten day period.

Every Scout and adult leader enjoyed the meals prepared in the kitchen and served in the new mess hall, and it is needless to say that Scouts are pleased at not having to wash their dishes.

As regards the type of advancement, this camp is considered the best in the history of Scouting Southwest Texas. A Court of Honor was held on Tuesday night, August 12th, at which 17 Scouts were advanced to the rank of Scout Class, 19 to the rank of First Class, 8 to the rank of Star Scouts, 5 to the rank of Life Scouts, and three to the highest rank in Scouting, that of the Eagle Scout. Two Eagle Scouts were awarded the Gold Palm and one the Bronze Palm. Approximately 15 Merit Badges were awarded to Scouts who had passed the required tests.

Young Mabry Ogil did some fine work in directing the Life Savers. Twenty-four Scouts passed tests in Junior Life Saving and four passed the tests for Senior Life Saving, making a total of twenty-eight Life Cross Life Savers.

We feel sure that everyone will be sorry to hear that our very good friend and Camp Area Camp Chairman, Mr. V. A. Brown, who has done so much for the Scout Camp, in the Scott and White Sanitarium in Temple, Texas. He became ill the first day at camp and had to leave and it is needless to say that all missed him. Mr. Brown stayed the full period with us last year and many friends among the Scouts and Leaders. We are sure that everyone will join us in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Scouts' school time is very close at hand, and we are expecting you to continue to be good Scouts by doing your very best in your school work. And don't forget to continue studying for advancement in your Scout Program.

RIO MEDINA NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Wurzbach and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wurzbach and daughters, Misses Hilda, Katy and Clara, visited O. W. Huegele and family Saturday evening. Mrs. Sivan Haby and baby spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Alf. J. Wurzbach.

Mr. and Mrs. August Wurzbach and daughters, Miss Alvina and Mrs. J. Anr. and baby, Adeline, were the guests of C. T. Wurzbach and family Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Huegele and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Mechler visited Mr. and Mrs. Huegele and Mr. Beno Grandma Huegele and Mr. Beno Huegele at Hondo one day last week. Misses Thelma and Aita Huegele were guests of Misses Naomi and Lynn Steine at Dunlay last Thursday.

Miss Katy Wurzbach is in receipt of a letter from her "Cowgirl" friend, Bessie Field, of New Mexico. In her letter she states that New Mexico is not in a drouth like Texas. They have never seen so much rain fall there as in the past four weeks. They had no drouth, tho; and are thankful. The crops are beautiful, also the corn and wheat are good. Their crops will be a success after all and cattle are doing wonderfully good. Also Bessie enclosed a clipping about her sister Katy, from their local paper, which may be of interest to some readers: "Finest little lady in State, Miss Katy Field. A poetess and an artist; ambitious and attractive and a real winner; lives 45 miles north of Magdalena, is gathering quite a lot of money unto herself these days in several lines of endeavor. To begin with, Miss Field is a Cowgirl of no mean pretensions, being part owner of a ranch embracing a solid township of land and 40 to 500 head of high grade cows."

"Aside from the cattle interests, the young lady is attracting a lot of attention as an artist, while her verses have been numerous and of very high order, mostly lyrical and descriptive of home and home country conditions and scenes. One or two of these dainty little verses have appeared in The News and have been highly prized by News readers from time to time. Very many more have been published in other forms and have attracted even more attention than the young authoress. Just now, it is understood, Miss Field is at Taos taking art instruction from experts there, in the mean time doing illustrating for some of the most noted authors in the United States. A new book by Zane Grey is said to be made attractive by pen sketches by Miss Field, and the following from The Santa Fe Railroad publication, will serve to show the growing fame of the local artist and authoress: "Wild Horses"—Early in the year The Earth reproduced a pen and ink drawing made by a young girl artist, Katherine Field, whose home is on her father's rugged cattle ranch in the huge county of Socorro, New Mexico. The sketch, 'Wild Horses,' evoked so much interest that by request it is again presented to our readers. Of it and other sketches, made by little Katy."

Mrs. Zane Grey, wife of the noted author of western fiction, writes, "The drawings are vital and distinct in life. Miss Field seems to catch the very spirit of wild horses. We would like to have seen her illustrate the horse Mesa."

The young, almost self-taught girl artist has received letters from readers of The Earth, since the reproduction of one of her sketches in its columns addressed from points as far removed from each other as Alabama, California and Honolulu. There is a halo of heroism and sunny fortitude investing the life of brave little Katy Field. The youngest of a family of girls, cheerful little Katy mounts her horse, is off without ado for a hazy, day long excursion with her sketch book to the confines of her father's far reaching cattle ranch. She has been her stuido since she was old guide her pencil. The Earth shares the confidence of its Field's friends in believing that at no distant day she will win recognition as one of the outstanding artists, and incomparable illustrators of the vital things that breath of the southwest. Recently the name of the post-office address of the Fields has been changed. It was Puertecillo but now is Field. Nelson Field is post master.

CORPUS CHRISTI LADY GLAD TO PRAISE KONJOLA.

Old Resident Eager To Tell What New Medicine Did For Her After Others Failed.

"I was badly run down and even the simplest foods brought on attacks of indigestion," said Mrs. H. L. Dryer, for more than fifty years a resident of Corpus Christi, Texas, residing at 1337 Ocean Drive in that city. I bloated terribly after meals and suffered severe belching spells. Constipation was a source of constant worry and I had severe pains in my abdomen after meals. I was unable to sleep at night.

"I have taken Konjola but a week and I can say that every ache and pain in my stomach is gone. I can now rest at night and eat what I wish without any of my former miseries. I have never used a medicine like Konjola and although I am 68 years of age I can do plenty of work. I am more than glad to pass my praise for this medicine on to others."

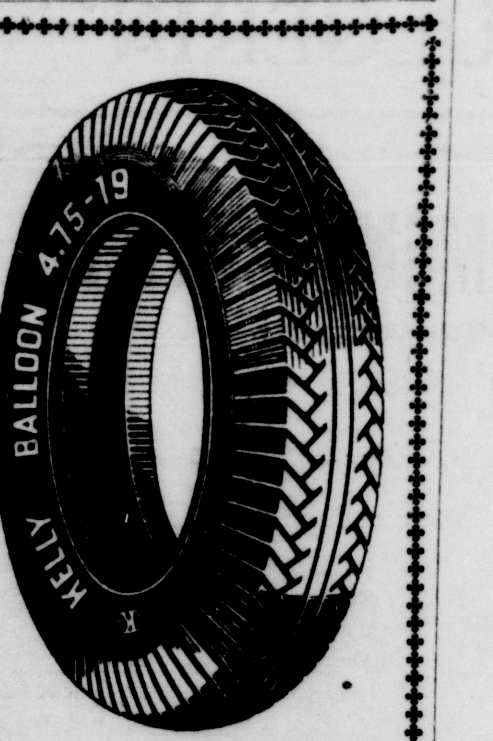

This is not an exceptional case. Konjola does work quickly and none the less thoroughly. It is best in most cases to continue the treatment over a period of from six to eight weeks.

Konjola is sold in Hondo, Texas, at W. H. Windrow's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

IT'S WISE TO CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record

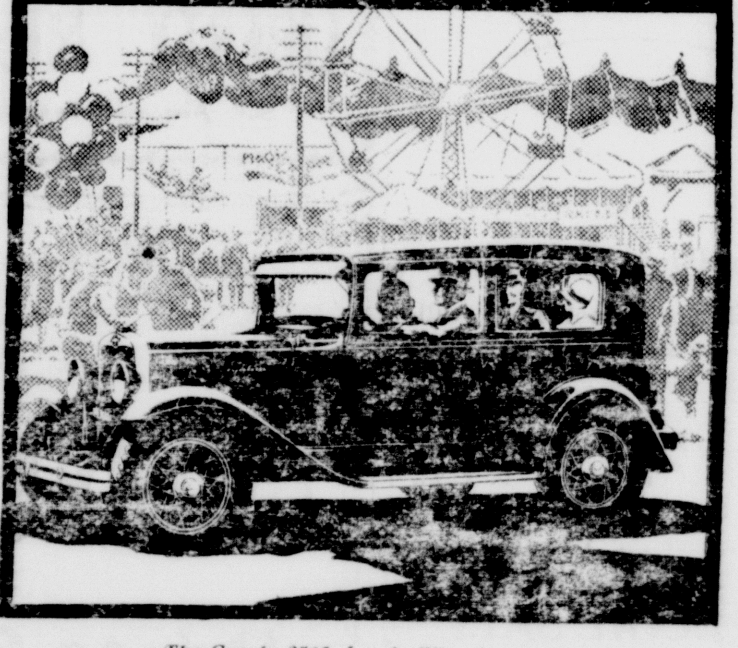

2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—the greater comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil,

FARMALL PRICE REDUCED

We have just received a big piece of power farming news—the McCormick-Deering FARMALL price has been cut and we are at once passing the information on to our customers. The Harvester Company's announcement says:

"We are glad to be able to make a reduction in the FARMALL tractor price at this time because right now the farmer is seriously in need of anything that will help him to cut down his costs of crop production.

"Due to manufacturing economies and anticipated reductions in material costs, we were able to reduce prices on the McCormick-Deering implement lines, effective for the present season.

"Recently, by the same process, we lowered the price on the 10-20 McCormick-Deering tractor $40, and cut the 15-30 tractor price $75.

"Now, to complete our program of reductions, we announce a cut in the price of the FARMALL.

"These price reductions, made during recent months, mean a saving to farmers of millions of dollars.

"As the original all-purpose tractor the McCormick-Deering FARMALL has won tremendous popularity. More than 100,000 FARMALLS have been built. Already this tractor has created a real revolution in farming. It is the best investment a farmer can make.

The new price, $925.00 delivered, is the lowest ever placed on the FARMALL."

YOU HAVE PROBABLY SEEN THE FARMALL TRACTOR AT WORK. IF NOT, WE WILL DEMONSTRATE IT AT ANY TIME, ON ANY JOB. THE FARMALL REPLACES 6 TO 10 HORSES AND 2 TO 3 MEN. IT PLOWS 7 TO 9 ACRES A DAY . . . DOUBLE DISKS 18 TO 25 ACRES . . . ERILLS UP TO 45 ACRES . . . PLANTS 24 TO 46 ACRES . . . CULTIVATES 33 TO 50 ACRES AND, IN LATER CULTIVATIONS, 50 TO 65 ACRES. IT HANDLES EVERY FARM POWER JOB, INCLUDING ROW-CROP OPERATIONS. PUT THE BEST TRACTOR POWER TO WORK NOW—AT THE NEW FARMALL PRICE!

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow-Parade," "The Homesteaders," "Neighbors," "The

A warmth of color lit up her cheek—he had noticed at Murdoch's how pale she was—and her eyes laughed back at him with some of their old-time vivacity.

"I am so glad," she said. "It seems almost like old times."

They gave their orders, and sat in silence through an overture. Grant was delighting himself simply in her presence, and guessed that for her part she could not retract the confession her love had wrung from her so long ago.

"There are some things which don't change, Phyllis," he said, when the orchestra had ceased.

She looked back at him with eyes moist and dreamy. "I know," she murmured.

There seemed no reason why Grant should not there and then have laid himself, figuratively, at her feet. And there was not any reason—only one. He wanted first to go West. He almost hoped that out there some light of disillusionment would fall about him; that some sudden experience would readjust his personality in accordance with the inevitable.

"I asked you to dine with me tonight," he heard himself saying, "for two reasons; first, for the delight of your exquisite companionship; and second, because I want to talk over with you some plans I have for the future. The fact is, I have been in a dilemma. I find that Murdoch, like the canny old Scot he is, has doubled my fortune during my little engagement overseas, and now I have to take up the reins again. But I am filled with the West. Do you know what I mean?"

"I have never lived in the West," said Phyllis, "but I think I can guess. You're homesick for it."

"That's it—homesick for it; for the smell of a thousand miles of grass and sunny hill-sides dotted with cattle and fellows who take you for what you are—or don't take you at all. A broker's life, no matter how successful, has nothing to offer which compares with that. It wasn't until last night that I saw it clearly, and then, all of a sudden, I knew what I was going to do."

Grant plunged into an explanation of what Linder had called his "Big Idea."

Grant Plunged Into an Explanation of What Linder Had Called His "Big Idea."

Idea." He was going back to the ranching country to buy land and start a farm on a large scale. He believed he could make money out of it, but more attractive was the prospect of outdoor life and an opportunity to offer employment to many of the boys of his battalion who, upon their return home, had not found their fortunes doubled—if they had any fortunes to double. Besides, it would give him a chance to take care of Linder.

"You know, I've got to take care of Linder," he explained, "and it's a business that has to be done tactfully. In some respects Linder is as approachable as a porcupine. I can buy him a meal or so and get away with it, but if he thought I were supporting him out of charity he would start an insurrection. Now, I'm going to make him manager of the farm; the stars in their courses shaped him for just that job. As for me, I'll stay in the background. I want time to loaf and invite my soul."

They talked over many angles of the "Big Idea," and, even after he had talked himself out, Grant continued to sit at the little table, revelling in the happiness of a man who feels that he has been called to some purpose worth while. His companion hesitated to interrupt his thoughts; her somewhat drab business experience made her pessimistic toward all idealism, and yet she felt that here, surely, was a man who could carry almost any project through to success. The unique quality in him, which distinguished him from any other man she had ever known, was his complete unselfishness. In all his undertakings he coveted no reward for himself; he was seeking only the common good.

"If all men were like you there would be no problems," she murmured, and while he could not accept the words quite at par they rang very pleasantly in his ears.

A movement among the diners reminded him of the flight of time, and with a glance at his watch he sprang up in surprise. "I had no idea the evening had gone!" he exclaimed. "I have just time to see you home and get back to catch my train."

He called a taxi and accompanied her into it. They seated themselves together, and the fragrance of her presence was very sweet about him. It would have been so easy to forget—all that he had been trying to forget—in the intoxication of such environment. Surely it was not necessary that he should go West—that he should see her again—in order to be sure.

"Phyllis," he breathed, "do you imagine I could undertake these things if I cared only for myself—if it were not that I longed for someone's approval—for someone to be proud of me? The strongest man is weak enough for that, and the strongest man is stronger when he knows that the woman he loves—"

He would have taken her in his arms, but she resisted, gently, firmly. "You have made me think too much of you, Dennison," she whispered.

On the way West Grant gradually unfolded his plan to Linder, who accepted it with his customary stoicism.

"You are to go on with the physical work at once," he told him. "Buy the horses, tractors, machinery; break up the land, fence it, build the houses and barns; in short, you are to superintend everything that is done with muscle or its substitute. I will bring Murdoch out shortly to take charge of the clerical details and the general organization. As for myself, after I have bought the land and made the necessary funds available, I propose to keep out of the undertaking. Murdoch will be the head, and you are to be the hands, and I hope you two conspirators won't give me palpitation."

Linder assented, laconically. "What are you going to do?" he inquired.

"I'm going to buy a half section of my own and farm if I feel like it."

The two friends discussed at great length the details of the Big Idea, and upon arrival in the West, Linder lost no time in preparing blueprints and charts descriptive of the improvements to be made on the land and the order in which the work was to be carried on. Grant bought a tract suitable to his purpose, and the wheels of the machine were set in motion. When this had been done Grant turned to the working out of his own individual experiment.

During the period in which these arrangements were being made it was inevitable that Grant should have heard more or less of Transley. He had not gone out of his way to seek information of the contractor, but it rather had been forced upon him. Transley's name was frequently heard in the offices of the business men with whom he had to do; it was mentioned in local papers with the regularity peculiar to celebrities in comparatively small centers. Transley, it appeared, had become something of a power in the land. Backed by old Y.D.'s capital, he had carried some rather daring ventures through to success. He had seized the panicky moments following the outbreak of the war to buy heavily on the wheat and cattle markets, and increases in prices due to the world's demand for food had made him one of the wealthy men of the city. The desire of many young farmers to enlist had also afforded an opportunity to acquire their holdings for small considerations, and Transley had proved his patriotism by facilitating the ambitions of as many men in this position as came to his attention. The fact that even before the war ended the farms which he acquired in this way were worth several times the price he paid was only an incident in the transactions.

But no word of Transley's domestic affairs reached Grant, who told himself that he had ceased to be interested in them, but kept an alert ear nevertheless. It would seem that Transley rather eclipsed his wife in the public eye.

So Grant set about with the development of his own farm, and kept his mind occupied with it and with his larger experiment—except when it went flitting with thoughts of Phyllis. He had written to Murdoch to engage Phyllis at any price and bring her West with him. She would be needed in the new business. He had intimated that the change would be permanent, and that it might be well to bring the family.

FLOWERS BLOOMING IN DEATH VALLEY.

An Associated Press report tells of the wonderful and unexampled transformation of Death Valley. That fearfully torrid region in Nevada, one hundred and fifty miles long and from ten to thirty-five miles wide, is so far below the sea that no one can live there in the summer, even the lizards and horned toads disappearing, while the parched ground is bare of vegetation.

But this year showers fell on Death Valley for nineteen consecutive days in May, and seeds that had been hidden there for years came suddenly to life, so that the whole valley burst into a riot of gorgeous colors.

This marvel may never happen again in Death Valley, but in the world of spirit it happens constantly. It is always foolish to give up any life as barren and dead, however forbidding it may appear. Let the showers of divine grace fall on it, as in some blessed revival, and seeds of beauty and of goodness planted no one knows how long ago will suddenly spring into loveliness, and the entire life will be gloriously transformed. Nor need we fear, as in the geographical Death Valley, that the transformation will be less than permanent.

"The wilderness and the dry land shall be glad, and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose." Read ISAIAH 35: 1-10.

"FAIL NOT TO ATTEND, A GRAND TIME FOR ALL"

THE ANSWERED PRAYER.

By Miss Kathleen Call.

A thin brown army blanket lay awkwardly over Mrs. Brown, who had been abed for the past several months. Her husband had been dead for two years, and her only girl's life had drifted away the following year. Then they took Jimmie, her only son and the only one she now had to take care of her away to war.

There, before her, was his picture. His farewell message, "Mother, I'll return when the war is over. I'll take care of you," rang clear in her ears. But would he return? Many a son went to war, with that same hope—the hope of returning home!

Now she was alone, except for the neighbors who came to see her several times a day, prepared her meals and talked of the war, of many other things that interested her.

Days passed into months. The mother's courage was not as strong as it was when Jimmie left. The only prayer was for the return of her son safely home. Was he dead? Oh, God, couldn't take such a good boy away from his mother who needed him so often thought. Tears brimmed up in her dim blue eyes, hurriedly she turned out the light and buried her face in a pillow, smothering little gasping sounds.

Yet far away in France was a young man, fighting for his country, for his life. He also prayed, prayed that his mother would live until he returned to his country and to her.

Daylight gradually faded away and the sky wore a more gloomy aspect. The moon, like a cold, silver ball came up from the heart of the hills and floated gradually into the embrace of purple mists. It rested there, sending down vague ladders of light to the world; new hope.

There in the moonlight walked a man toward her house. Could it be Jimmie? They had told her the war was over. Oh, if only God had spared her son, she thought.

Her sweet worn face lighted with eagerness, as he walked through the gate. "Mother, mother," he cried as he ran up the steps, which led to his home, his mother. "I've come; God answered my prayer," he said, as his arms clasped about his mother.

"Yes, God answered our prayers," she whispered in his ear.
